Workshop/paper session: Best practice in journalism practice

Friday, May 15, 2020, 11:00 am – 12:30 pm

For this special workshop we invite you to present your examples of best practice in journalism practice on digital storytelling.

Over the last few years the media has accordingly adapted to new forms of digital storytelling. This has opened a new field for journalists around the world: You found a new and creative way on how to tell an interactive multimedia story, present interactive documentaries and data or crossmedia stories online?

Then please send us your proposal and be part of our workshop „best practice in journalism practice“ hosted by KfJ.

What?

Examples for best practice in journalism practice on „digital storytelling“ (Articles and stories – published or not, papers, studies etc.). Presentation time for each participant: around 20 minutes – if there is still time afterwards we will round up the workshop with an open discussion.

How?

Send your proposal (short abstract, around 100-300 words) to Barbara Dürnberger from „Kuratorium für Journalistenausbildung“ (KfJ): duernberger@kfj.at Until?

Deadline for your proposals will be May 1st. We will inform you until the 5th of May if you will get a spot in the workshop and send you all the needed information.

For any further questions please don't hesitate to contact Barbara (duernberger@kfj.at)

We look forward to your best practices!
